

Michael Alston is the associate vice chancellor, chief diversity officer, and Title IX coordinator at the University of Tennessee Health Science Center (UTHSC) and has worked for three University of Tennessee System campuses. He earned a Master of Science in Educational Psychology from the University of Tennessee-Martin, a Doctor of Education from Peabody College at Vanderbilt University, and a Bachelor of Science in psychology from the University of Tennessee-Martin. Michael has completed two DEI focused professional certificates from the School of Industrial and Labor Relations (Diversity Management) at Cornell University and the Weinberg College of Arts and Sciences at Northwestern University (Leading Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion). Michael grew up in Brighton, Tennessee and is graduate of Munford High School in Tipton County and is married to Dr. Chandra Alston, associate vice chancellor for Human Resources, at UTHSC.