

Vikki Massey

Assistant Vice Chancellor for Information Technology and Deputy Chief Information Officer
The University of Tennessee Health Science Center

As the Deputy Chief Information Officer for UTHSC, Vikki Massey leads four customer-facing teams within Information Technology Services that implement and enhance several products and services and support users. Before that, Vikki served as the director of the ITS Project Management Office. She has 10 years of project management experience and earned her PMP, the industry's premier certification, in 2014. She continues to lead projects as needed.

Tentative title: "Are You Hallucinating? Why Solid Project Management Makes a Difference"

Format: PowerPoint and Talk

Objectives: Participants will learn the following:

- What is project management?
- The benefits of project management
- A basic project management framework they can apply to their own work