

Dr. Jonathan Phipps is the founding director of the University of Tennessee Knoxville (UTK) Core Facilities Program, and Interim Director of the UT Institute for Advanced Materials and Manufacturing (UT IAMM). During his time at the University of Tennessee, Dr. Phipps has helped to expand the number of core facilities by six-fold and he is working to leverage resources from UT IAMM to create a more efficient management model for facility operations and to improve the effectiveness of the cores in supporting faculty.