

Susan Meyn is Senior Director at Vanderbilt University Medical Center (VUMC) in the Office of Research, where she leads a nationally regarded research shared resources program and is part of the institutional strategic planning leadership team. Susan has been active with both the Association of Biomolecular Resource Facilities (ABRF) and its parent organization, the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology (FASEB). Most recently she has served as co-chair of the ABRF Committee on Core Rigor and Reproducibility, and the FASEB Shared Research Resources Task Force.