

Kendra H. Oliver stands at the unique cross-section of disciplines with a Ph.D. in Pharmacology and a Master's in User Experience Design. For the last five years, Kendra has harnessed the power of visual art and design to craft innovative programs, products, and exhibitions that ignite creativity and broaden perspectives within the scientific community nationally. Currently residing in Pittsburgh, she has taken her interdisciplinary practice to new heights by founding ArtLab Studios, a company dedicated to expanding access to art and science opportunities that foster inspiration and innovation within the biomedical sciences and the broader community.
